RUSSIANS FIGHT ON WEST FRONT

Kaiser Witnesses Smashes of Allies and Their Effect

FIGHT UNDER GROUND

Combattants Feel For Each Other in the Dark and Battle With Each Other Like Wolves

Paris, July 17—Russian troops in action on the French Champagne front counter-attacked successfully last night, inflicting heavy losses on the Germans, the war office stated today. There has been no important fighting in the region of the Somme, but continued prgress west of Fleury is reported.

London, July 17—Kaiser Wilhelm was at the Somme front when his army retreated under battering British blows in Saturday night's fighting, it became known today.

An official statement issued at Berlin confirmed previous reports of the Kaiser's presence on the front of the great Anglo-French offensive, where he has been visiting his troops and inspiring them to a more stubborn defene. The Berlin statement said that the Kaiser conferred with his chief of staff and commanding generals, visited the hospitals and conferred several iron crosses.

British guns blotted out enemy works, leaving only ruined redoubts from behind which German machine gunners raked the attackers until blown to pieces by bombs.

The fighting for Longueval on Friday was a bitter battle for underground works and cellars.

"In some of the cellars the Germans fought like wolves at bay," wired one correspondent. "Down in the darkness of these places men fought savagely, seeing only the glint of each other's eyes and feeling for each other's throats unless there were still bombs handy to make a quicker ending. It was primitive warfare; cave men fought like that in such darkness, though not with bombs, which belong to our own age"

Paris, July 17—Under a blanket of fog Saturday night says the French official statement issued yesterday afternoon, the Germans, in the region south of the Somme, hurled violent attacks against La Maisonette and the village of Biaches, recently captured by the French, and took those positions by surprise. The French, however, immediately launched a vigorous counter attack and recaptured both places.

North of Chilly, the Germans penetrated the first line of trenches of the French, but later were ejected. Near Outches, north of the River Aisne, the French stormed the German trenches and northeast of Verdun they made considerable progress to the west and south of Fleury.

Berlin, July 17—Four British attacks in the region of Ovillers and Bazentin le Petit, north of the River Somme, broke down Saturday afternoon in front of the German lines, says the German official statement issued yesterday. South of the Somme, German troops occupied a portion of the village of Biaches after lively fighting, the statement adds, and French attacks near Barleux and in the region of Estrees were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers. The French entered the German first line south west of Thiaumont Work, where fighting continues.

CLARENDON AND EAGLES WIN

Capture Opening Games of Title Series From Cardinals and White Sox.

Cardinal Athletic Club went down in defeat before the Alexandria County Athletic Association at Clarendon yesterday by the score of 6 to 1, and the Eagles defeated the White Sox nine to the tune of 8 to 3, at Baggett's diamond, both games being the openers of the 18-game series to be staged between these four teams for the amateur baseball championship of northern Virginia.

In the game at Clarendon the feature was the stellar twirling of Von Herbules, who was on the mound for the A. C. A. A. and who allowed the Cardinals but two scant hits. Sweeney the Cardinal's pitcher, was batted rather freely. Degnan and Stewart, second basemen for both teams, played well, and Snowden, of the Cardinals, and Drunkenmiller of the A. C. A. A., both won applause by good catches in the outfield.

Good ball was twirled by White for the Eagles in the contest pulled off on upper King street, while Quayle, the opposing slabman, was wild and was batted hard in the pinches. The Eagles shoved over five runs in the seventh and put the game on ice.

The next games of the series will be played Sunday July 23, between the Cardinals and White Sox, at Baggett's diamond, and between the A. C. A. A. and the Eagles, at Clarendon.

Bridgehampton, N. Y., July 17—The rejection by the New Jersey State Progressive committee of a resolution indorsing the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes was communicated to the nominee by Everett Colby, one of the committeemen who favored the indorsement.

Mr. Colby, who is a member of the newly appointed Republican campaign committee, announced after the conference that Mr. Hughes was not disturbed by the action of the committee.

"We all feel," Mr. Colby said, "that the action of the committee represents only their own personal views."

Mr. Hughes declined to comment on the action of the committee. He is keeping in touch with developments in the Progressive party throughout the country.

Representative Is Chosen by President to Succeed Judge Atkinson, Retired

Washington, July 17—Representative James Hay chairman of the military affairs committee, has been nominated by President Wilson to be a Judge of the Court of Claims to succeed Judge George W. Atkinson of West Virginia, retired. The selection of Mr. Hay came as a surprise, his name not having been mentioned in connection with the place, for which there have been various applicants.

Obeying the command of his father who had just been shot by his opponent, Lundy Compton, yesterday morning shot and killed Frank Jones near Apple Grove, Louisa county. According to the story there had been trouble of long standing between M. L. Compton, father of Lundy, and Jones. Jones, it was said, had been ordered to keep away from Compton's place, but went there yesterday morning, when the quarrel was renewed. Shooting was opened between the two, and the elder Compton fell with a bullet through his side and another through his arm. As he wheeled he called to his son, and said, the account went, "He has killed me; now you kill him." The younger Compton fired on the word, and a charge of shot tore out Jones's brain.

CLOUDBURST IN NORTH CAROLINA

Five Persons Are Dead, Three Having Been Drowned

GIVING WAY OF DAMS

Heavy Rains Also Cause Floods in Virginia and Tennessee, Tying up Traffic

Asheville, N. C., July 17—Five known dead and property damage estimated at $10,000,000 resulted from a cloudburst and flood over Western North Carolina early yesterday.

The known dead are:

Capt. J. C. Lipe; Miss Nellie Lipe; Mrs. Leo Mulhall and Lonnie Trexler, unidentified negro.

Capt. Lipe, Miss Lipe and Mrs. Mulhall were drowned in the captain's house at Biltmore.

The flood waters invaded the Vanderbilt estate, Biltmore, and it was first reported that Miss Mabel Foster and Miss Charlotte Walker, nurses had been drowned in the Biltmore hospital, but later advices say they were saved.

The floods extend through a great portion of Western North Carolina. Reports late yesterday were that two dams at Hendersonville, N. C., and the big dam at Lake Toxaway had broken, but a still later account said the toxaway dam was still holding, though in danger.

Railway traffic is this section is at a standstill as the result of slides and washouts, and telegraph service is badly crippled. Several trains are reported marooned.

Bristol, Va., July 17—Storms sweeping over the Blue Ridge Saturday night, and yesterday let loose floods of water that put streams and rivers on the rampage as they had not been in 30 years. Elizabethton, Tenn. and other towns and villages were threatened, while various railroads have sustained washouts and slides, completely blocking traffic.

All local trains on the Radford division of the Norfolk and Western Railway were annulled yesterday, travel being made dependent upon through trains, but these were unable to pass Radford, where the waters of New river threatened the steel bridgs and covered the tracks around the river bed to a depth of 10 feet.

Bridges and trestles were washed out on the Tennessee division of the Virginia and Southwestern, and relief trains carrying bridge timbers were sent out. Traffic is said to be similarly tied up on the Virginia-Carolina Railway, the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina and Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio roads.

Various streams rose from 15 to 30 feet. The Knoxville-Salisbury division of the Southern Railway is said to have serious washouts.

East Radford, Va., July 17—Swollen by the heavy rains of the past few days, New River rose 36 feet at this place yesterday and last night this city was in total darkness. The Norfolk and Western track at Walton, two miles from here, is six feet under water, and along the river from this city to Bluefield the track is submerged. All trains on this line have been annulled. One train was operated to Bristol yesterday afternoon, but there is no connection with West Virginia points, except on the Norfolk and Western.

The heaviest loser in this section is the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, the furnace of which corporation was placed in operation a month ago. The plant was flooded yesterday, the damage to engine's boilers, dynamos and other apparatus being estimated at $100,000. The plant will be out of operation for at least 30 days.

On the Virginia Railway, which parallels the Norfolk and Western, tracks were inundated, and in one place 500 feet of ties were washed away. All trains of that road have also been annulled.

The transmission line of the Appalachian Power Company has been washed away, and several towns dependent upon that company for light are in darkness. The company's dam on New River are still in tact.

The flood was two feet higher than the rise of 1878. Bridges along the river are reported gone. Many houses were washed away, and numerous bodies of live stock are floating down the river. No deaths of persons have been reported.

KAISER MAKES SPEECH

Says France's Resistance is That of Despair

British Front in France, July 17—Via London—Letters, diaries and orders taken from prisoners in the British offensive contain enlightening news of the state of affairs among the Germans. One of the prisoners complained of the "poor, undisciplined material'" in the drafts sent forward to fill the gaps in the regiments.

A copy of a speech which the German emperor made to the Third Guard infantry division when it was sent to the western front is among the documents captured. The emperor warns the guard: "The foe fights differently over here. He is tougher, more resisting, more adroit more versatile."

The desire for peace and the expectation that it will come if often alluded to by prisoners. Commanding officers in their addresses to the troops speak of peace being near and of the enemy being almost broken. Particularly is France referred to as being near her last gasp. The German emperor, in his speech, also referred to France's resistance as that of despair.

SERMON ON OBEDIENCE ...

Large Audience Present Last Night at the Gospel Tent

"The importance of obedience and the results of disobedience" was the subject of the sermon last night by Evangelist Gibson at the gospel tent. The speaker referred to cases in the Pible where those who disobeyed God reaped the fruits of their course, while he showed the many instances where those who followed the injunctions of the Almighty inherited the promises. The subject tonight will be "The Kingdom of Christ.".

MANY ARE AFTER HAY'S POSITION

Every County in Seventh District Has a Candidate

T. W. HARRISON LEADS

Valley Section of District, Unrepresented for Twenty Years, Will Demand Candidate

Washington, July 17—With the announcement that Representative James Hay will retire from Congress within a month to accept a berth on the United States Court of Claims, the Seventh Virginia district, which has not had a Congressional fight worthy of mention for 20 years, will be the scene of a sharp and short contest for the Democratic nomination to succeed Mr. Hay in the House according to messages received from different points in the Valley.

Information is that sentiment is crystallizing for a convention, not a primary, to nominate the Democratic candidate. It is stated that under the State Primary law a primary could not be held, as the time for making arrangements for a primary has expired and there is no special provision to meet such a case as has arisen in the Seventh district. Therefore it is declared, the indications are that a district convention will be called by the Democratic Congressional Committee.

Two candidates for Congress will have to be named—one for the unexpired term of Mr. Hay and the other for the long term. According to information the impression prevails that the candidate nominated for the long term also will be named for the short session of Congress. If this is done, Governor Stuart will be asked to call a special Congressional election some time in October to elect Mr. Hay's successor for the short term and the candidate for the long term will be elected in the regular election in November. Such a plan, it is stated, will avoid any confuson of a candidate's name appearing twice on the ticket.

If a convention is called there is every indication that every county in the district will put forward its favorite son. The Seventh Virginia is filled with Congressional timber. This district is composed of the counties of Albemarle, Madison, Greene and Rappahannock in the Piedmont section and Rockingham, Shenandoah, Frederick Page, Clarke and Warren in the Valley. These counties are among the richest in Virginia.

Friends of Judge Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester, say that the Winchester jurist will not be a candidate for the nomination nor will he resign from the bench to make the fight, but if he were nominated he would accept. These friends of Judge Harrison declared that they intend to make a strong canvass for his nomination.

It was stated that Judge Harrison in a convention, would have the support of the delegates from five counties on the second or third ballot. His judicial circuit is composed of Frederick, Clarke, Warren and Shenandoah. He is very popular in these counties and also is expected to have the support of Page county after the first ballot. With this strength, Judge Harrison's friends declared his nomination would follow after a few more ballots.

Some of these counties, however, will more than likely present favorite sons. Clarke county may present the name of former State Senator Blackburn Smith; Warren county, State Senator H. H. Downing, and Page county, Colonel Weaver. Rockingham county, it is said, is divided between state Senator Conrad and Former State Senator George B. Keezell. The Piedmont section also will have two candidates in Judge R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, and State Senator N. B. Early, of Greene. This section likely will be behind one man before many ballots are taken.

The old issue of the Valley against Piedmont is already being raised in the preliminary skirmishing. The Valley of Virginia, the richest section of the State, has not had a Representative in Congress for 20 years. This section of the State is divided between the Seventh and Tenth districts. Representative Flood, who hails from Appomattox in the Piedmont section, has represented the upper Valley for 20 years, and Mr. Hay who comes from Madison, has been the representative of the lower Valley for the same period. The Valley people, therefore, declare that a man time has arrived for them to have a man in that House and that the Piedmont section cannot expect to furnish the man continuously to represent the Valley in Congress.

This issue will cut a bigger figure in the coming campaign than most people think. It was raised when there was talk of opposing Mr. Hay some years ago, the statement being made that "the tail should not wag the dog forever."

BLOWS WIFE TO FRAGMENTS

Jealous Husband Holds Spouse and Sets Off Three Sticks of Dynamite

Roanoke, Va., July 17—Holding his wife, from whom he had been separated for several months, with one hand, H. Gray, a coal operator, of Marting, W. Va., set off three sticks of dynamite last night. The explosion literally blew the woman to pieces, jerked Gray's right arm from his shoulder and blew off the fingers of his left hand.

Martial troubles led to the separation of the couple shortly after Christmas. Inflamed with drink and jealousy, Gray went to his former home Saturday night and broke through the door. His wife and her 16 year old daughter by her first husband were alone in the room. Without a word Grey grasped his wife about the neck and reached in the pocket of his coat for the dynamite.

As he seized his wife, her daughter screamed and started toward him. Before she could reach him he had jerked the dynamite from his pocket and thrown it to the floor.

The woman was blown to fragments. The girl was hurled twenty feet and seriously injured.

Gray was barely alive from the terrible wounds he received and is not expected to live. Despite his desperate condition, miners were on the verge of lynching him.

PRISONERS MUTILATED

Followers of Villa Cut Off Ears of Captives

San Antonio, Tex., July 17—Gen. Pershing wired to Gen. Funston yesterday morning that officers of the de facto government had informed him they had recaptured seventeen of their soldiers from Villistas and that each of these men had his right ear cut off. Pershing did not state in what district these Villistas were operating Recently the Carranzistas claimed Villa's followers were cutting off the left ears of men who refused to join his ranks.

Funston has asked the War Department to ask for an emergency medical corps appropriaton of $300,000. The War Department has notified him that a model hospital train of thirteen coaches will leave Washington July 21, arriving here July 23. It will be used to transport sick men from sub-base hospitals along the border to the base hospital here. A smaller but similar train will ply between the encampment towns in the Browns ville district and the sub-base hospital at Brownsville.

GERMANS MASS MANY FORCES AT KOVEL

Bring Up Every Available Reserve to Check Russians

AN IMPORTANT POINT

Berlin Reports That Russians Lost 260,000 Men in Their Last Offensive in Galicia

Petrograd, July, 17.—Profoundly impressed by the steady Russian advance, which see-saws first at this point and then at that, the Germans are massing enormous forces before Kovel. They are bringing up every available reserve n the hope of stalling the new Russian mowing machine.

The present comparative calm is deemed here to be a mere prelude to the resumption of heavy and important fighting.

The fall of Kovel now would be a staggering blow to the central powers, completely disrupting their plans. Lemberg would be menaced more than ever, the road to the great fortress of Brest-Litovsk opened, and the rear of the entire Pinsk region threatened, necessitating the German's withdrawal.

The Russians apparently do not lack ammunition. Printed on the cartridge cases are the phrases:

"Don't spare bullets—don't spare courage. There's enough, e plenty for all."

Cossacks from the Don, Urals, fresh young giants from Siberia and elsewhere, are fighting like game cocks, striving to outdo each other in dare-devil charges. The quarrel with the Germans is now personal, owing to the Germans' use of liquid fire and gas. Consequently fewer German prisoners are taken in proportion to the umber of dead on the field.

Russian officers appear satisfied not only with the situation on the Russian front, but with the spirit of the troops which they declare was never higher.

Berlin, (via wireless to Sayville L. I.) July 17. — Russian losses since the beginning of the present offensive until July 1, total more than 262,000, the semi-official news agency estimated today.

"According to official reports issued at Petrograd since the beginning of the Russian offensive until July 1, the killed include 14,900 officers, among them seventeen generals and twenty-nine regimental commanders and 248,000," the news agency stated.

AUTO CRASH KILLS TWO

Party Returning From Fashionable Dance Victims of Ditch

Pittsburgh, July 17— Returning to this city Saturday night from a dance held at the fashionable Oakmont Country Club, as a closing feature of the tournament of the western Pennsylvania golf championship, an automobile party of four were hurled from the car when it left the Sandy Creek road and crashed into a ditch resulting in the death of two persons and injury to two others. The dead are Miss Kathryn E. Reisinger, aged 21, and Warren Sniffin, 22 and the injured are Miss Margaret Reisinger, 18, sister of Kathryn, bruised about body, and Alfred C. Pepperday, 40, fractured collar bone, injured internally, expected to die.

Miss Kathryn Reisinger alighted on her head and suffered a fractured skull. Sniffin was tossed through the windshield, receiving internal injuries. Pepperday was hurled against a telephone pole.

Passing automobilists, finding Miss Kathryn Reisinger had been killed instantly, left the body at the roadside and hurried her injured sister to her home, Sniffin to the Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg, where he died later, and Pepperday to the Pittsburgh Hospital.

AN ELONGATED DOCKET

Number of Misdemeanor Cases Disposed of By The Police Court This Morning

Upon Monday morning, the police court docket is usually fuller than on other days in the week, the law breakers of Saturday night being many, besides violators of the law active on the Sabbath. This morning, the cases tried before Justice Thompson were unusuallly numerous, there being over a dozen disposed of.

Besides the case of "Jumbo" Bryant, colored, convicted on three different counts, there were an even twelve others, who faced the bar, charged with misdemeanors, the first of these being Matthew Bolden, who had escaped from the Occoquan work house, and who was held for the authorities. Ella Shirley, charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, forfeited $5, collateral by failing to appear, as did also Pauline Brent, colored. A negro named Cornelius Curtis, was dismissed on the charge of disorderly conduct and fighting, the Brent woman, with whom he was alleged to have been scrapping, not being present, and there being no evidence to show that he had provoked a fight.

Jesse Poole, colored, was fined $20 for carrying concealed weapons, and a white man, bearing the cognomen of Robert Rainey arraigned on the charge of vagrancy, was sent to jail for five days. Rainey claimed he could find work, but was no physical condition to work, saying he "alway would see things," when walking up the street, and had juggled too frequently with the cup that cheers.

Another case of alleged violation of the Sunday "blue law," was slated to be heard in court this morning Harvey Daniels being summoned on that charge by the police. When Daniels' case was called, however, he was not to be found, and it was ordered that warrant be served on the man to compel him to appear tomorrow.

Albert Harrison forfeited $1 left as collateral to appear to answer a charge of violating the traffic law, and the case of John Hutchinson, charged by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pulman, with running down their five year old daughter Freda, last Friday, was dismissed, it being shown that the little girl ran in front of the car, that Hutchinson stopped the machine as soon as possible, and had not been running ovr 12 miles per hour. The little child was not seriously hurt, although bruised severely about the shoulders.

Two residents of this city faced the bar on a charge of reckless driving, but were dismissed, it being proven that the horse they were driving had gotten unmanageable for the time being, but that they soon had the animal under control.

The case of a resident of King street chargd with maintaining a nuisance, insomuch as he allowed water to run off his premises into those of a neighbor continued from Saturday, came up this morning. An agreement was reached between the accused and his neighbor for the remedying of the trouble.

The case of a white woman, charged with using abusive language towards another woman, was dismissed upon the ground that it was a case of defamation of character and could only be heard in a civil court.

"Jumbo" Bryant, colored, was arranged on three separate charges, and was convicted and fined five dollars on each count. Not having the wherewithal to make payment, he was sentenced to ninety days on the roads of the commonwealth.

"Jumbo's" defense of himself was ludicrous, and smiles and titters were in evidence around the courtroom. On being convicted of the third charge, he demanded from the court if there was anything else of which he was guilty, but was hustled by the officers back into his cell.

The three charges against the negro were assault and battery on Carrie Williams, colored, theft, and selling fish without making the proper returns.

ACCIDENT TO AUTO

Attorney Robinson Moncure Ditches Car in Duncan's Lane

Striking a soft spot in Duncan's lane, a road just outside this city, yesterday afternoon, an automobile owned and driven by Robinson Moncure, an Alexandria attorney, swerved and was ditched a moment later beside the road. In the car with Mr. Moncure were his wife, and two small children, and Charles W. Hall, a friend, the latter being bruised slightly in the accident. No one was thrown out, and the other occupants of the car escaped injury although shaken up. The car, although put out of commission, was not badly damaged.

CONDUCTOR FOR THE TRACTION CO. HAD TO LAY OFF

Gastritis, Constipation, Catarrh, Sluggish Liver, got the best of Him.

"I suffered with a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and a sluggish liver for many months," said H. F. Reynolds of 2323 Penn. Ave., Northwest, Washington, D. C., a popular conductor for the Capitol Traction Co. "I seemed to have a good appetite but my food didn't digest and would sour and produce gas. I have always been bothered by constipation and also had catarrh of the nose and head. I've spent a lot of money trying to find something to put me right again. So many Washington people were praising Dreco, I decided to try it. One bottle proved it was what I needed for I am very greatly improved. The catarrh is better than in years. My liver is active. Constipation relieved and my food seems to digest, eliminating the gas condition. I'm feeling great again and gladly recommend Dreco." Dreco is sold by Allen's Drug Store in Alxeandria.

PRESENT WAR CONDITIONS

It is apparent from the Berlin bulletins that the Germans and Austrians are hard pressed on both sides at the present time, and that while they are anxious to prevent a feeling of panic at home they realize that they are facing the sternest crisis of the war. It is suggested that the real danger, in spite of the earnestness and strength of the series of assaults made by the Allies in the Somme region, is from the continuous Russian pressure, which the Central Powers have been unable to lessen or throw off. The Austrian press is beginning freely to admit the strain, and its tone is so pessimistic that strategists are discussing again the probability Austria's early allimination from the contest. She has been the weak sister from the outset, and it would be no wonder if she were to collapse under the point blows of Russia and Italy, even with all the help Germany can give her. If that should happen, Germany, segregated and surrounded by enemies on every hand would be forced in a few months to capitulate

Germany cannot afford to have Austria overrun. Such a result would be fatal to the German Empire, and it may be assumed that she will devite the greater part of her strength for the next few weeks to beating back the Russians and putting Austria on her feet again. If she cannot do that the game will be up, because the conquest of Austria would necessitate the rearrangement of Germany's plans on a purely defensive basis, including her probable retirement from France and Belgium and preparations for a final stand on her own soil.

Such an allied triumph, however, will depend upon the military resources which Germany develops in the near future. The Russian forward sweep has been checked, but it has not been stopped, and it seems evident that Germany and Austria will have to throw against it much larger forces than they yet have in the field.

Unquestionably the Russian has got to be settled with first of all if Germany is to hold her own. She cannot be satisfied simply with holding him where he is. He must be driven back, if Austria is to be kept up to the scratch. Germany's ally is getting very weak both in body and spirit. She needs the strong restorative of a great victory to keep her from lying down and quitting.

WANT PROTECTION OF HEAVEN

Crossing the Atlantic Ocean under normal conditions is a feat fraught with dan[illegible] most modern ships equip[illegible] the latest safety appliance[illegible]e to the bottom, as there is no absolute insurance against icebergs, derelicts, collisions, or storms. The Germans who brought over the submarine Deutschland are realizing the fact that they will probably this week be called upon to about face and again cross the ocean on their way home. They may be likened to venture-some men who manage to reach the summit of the Matterhorn. After gazing around for a time, they become anxious in preparing to descend, a feat said to be more risky than the ascent.

While many things could happen on mother ocean, especially to a submarine, there are other dangers which face the Germans. Hostile men-of-war are cruising off the Virginia capes anxious to send the craft to the bottom. If they fail to accomplish their purpose it will be through no fault of their own.

To those 29 tanned and courageous men who one week ago this morning brought to its slip on the Patapsco side of Locust Point, at Baltimore the first undersea trader, the Deutschland, yesterday was a day of thanksgiving and rest. Thankful for the kind Providence that watched over them and brought them safely to America, they gathered yesterday and offered long and silent prayers and prayers in common and asked that same Providence that guided them to take them safely back over and under the Atlantic to their homes and the ones they love so well.

Some men would make it appear that the ocean has on terrors for them. If a hurricane overtakes them they generally term such elemental disturbances as "a capful of wind." Sensible people, however, are by no means anxious to combat the forces of nature. An old Cunard captain many years ago said he always invoked the protection of heaven before he left either side and thanked God when he arrived safely in port. He said others might regard crossing the ocean as a common-place incident, but he always looked upon the feat as dangerous.

WANT OF FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

The need of a fire alarm system in Alexandria was never more apparent than last Saturday night, or really Sunday morning. While most people in the community were endeavoring to obtain sleep, after having tossed to and fro during the early part of the night by reason of the heat, the new auto truck, with its piercing whip o' the will whistle started down Fairfax street, followed by the steam engines, truck and hose wagons and many automobiles running at a high rate of speed. Their objective point was the shipyard, at the foot of Franklin street which it was thought was burning. No fire could be found anywhere.

The origin of all this furore, which cost the city about $25, was the result of a heroic trick upon the part of an enthusiast, whose main pleasure is derived in watching fire apparatus rush through the streets. This individual had raised a window on Prince street, near Royal, picked up a telephone upon the desk and announced that the marine shipyard was burning. It is unfortunate that the police are unable to indentify this nocturnal disturber of the peace.

Take Jonescu, one of the leaders of the pro-ally party in Roumania, has given out the following statement "Victory for the allies is now apparent to everybody. One can see it here by the deep discouragement of the pro-Germans. The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. VIRGINIA NEWS

The council of Richmond has passed an ordinance amending and recording an ordinance so as to prevent any person from play baseball in the streets, under penalty of not less than $1 nor more than $5 fine.

Dr. Powhaton Schenck, health commissioner, states that there are 56 cases of typhoid fever reported and investigated in Norfolk, this number being an increase of ten over the total reported up to Thursday morning.

The Roanoke Elks won $300 for having the best float in the parade in Baltimore Friday. The float was a model of the Elks' Home at Bedford City, It cost $3,000. The float was drawn by six horses, and attracted attention all along the route of the parade.

A fleet of treasurer-hunting voyagers passed the Virginia Capes last night and reached their operating base, 55 miles of Cape Charles Light early this morning. The expedition is backed by Wall Street capital and seeks to recover a cargo of silver treasure which went down on the Ward liner Merida, which sunn in that location four years ago.

Mexican raiders may be in the vicinity of Norfolk riding in high-powered automobiles believed by the police to have been stolen from the United States army on the border. Early Saturday evening the police received word that five Mexicans in two automobiles had invaded the city and offered to sell or trade the machines. The cars were minus license plates and showed signs of a long hard trip.

The Lynchburg police authorities have been advised by parents of two white boys who were arrested after running away from their homes in Durham, N. C., that the parents had been unable to control the lads in the past, and that they did not care to have them returned home. The boys have not been released, but will be held until an effort can be made to have them committed to some institution for incorrigibles in North Carolina.

City playgrounds are classed with city parks in an adverse report to be made by Playgrounds Superintendent called to the administrativ board. Petition of the Pine Street Baptist Church for use of the Clark Springs playgrounds was submitted to the superintendent last week, by the administrative board. Mr. Calder will advise the board today against granting the petition. The board refused to give the church the use of the park plot at Harrison and Linden streets, a rule against the use of any city park for a profit-bearing enterprise having been adopted more than a year ago.

Forming what incoming steamer captains at Norfolk say is a "V-shaped socket," warships of England and France are off the Virginia Capes waiting for the German submarine Deutschland to come out into the Atlantic on her way back to Germany from Baltimore. How many warships are off the Capes is not known, but at least three have been seen. One of them, a two funneled, formidable-looking cruiser, came within six miles of Cape Henry yesterday afternoon, hung around for several hours and then steamed back to sea. On Saturday night a cruiser came up to the Cape Henry buoy, only about a mile beyond the three-mile-limit. She remained there practically all night scrutinizing every vessel that passed in or out of the Capes.

Just how long it will be before the horse will be supplanted by the automobiles cannot be guessed, but the fact is that the power machoine is coming to the front for all sorts of purposes in Virginia. Inquiry at the office of the secretary of the commonwealth discloses that the machines so far licensed this year is largely in excess of previous years, and there are some five months yet in which licenses can be procured for new machines. Up to June 17 there had been issued very nearly 32,000 licenses, and since that time this number has been largely increased. The state ordered 35,000 tags for the machines, and it may be that these will not be enough to supply the demand. There has been collected as of June 17, $225,674.50 for licenses for automobiles and other power machines.

Drinks of Medicinal Character, Containing Caffeine, Ammonia or Lime Juice Proper.

Richmond, July 17. —Persons in the daily habit of partaking of such soft drinks as contain caffeine, ammonia and lime juice, whose routine has been interrupted during the past few Sundays by the enforcement of the State's "blue laws," obtained them yesterday, but from drug stores only. A jury in the Hustings Court Saturday, following instructions from Judge D. C. Richardson, acquitted R. E. Chelf, a druggist, with a store at Harrison and Broad streets, of two charges of violating the Sabbath law. Chelf had appealed from fines imposed in Police Court when convicted of selling certain soft drinks.

Judge Richardso told the jury that, if, in its opinion, such drinks were of a medicinal character, it should return a verdict of not guilty.

While this decision further lets down the bars originally set up in the Sunday-law enforcement, it will nevertheless raise a protest, it is expected, from confectioners and proprietors of similar stores who sell soft drinks similar to those referred to but do not operate under drug licenses.

While allowing the right to drug stores to make these sales on Sunday, the same jury brought in a verdict of guilty against M. Mitteldorer, manager of the cigar stands of local hotels, for selling tobacco on the Sabbath. His counsel noted an appeal to the Virginia Supreme Court of appeals. Miss Cora H. Blanton and Miss Emma Glenn two of his employees, were acquitted on the ground that they were acting at the direction of Mitteldorfer. Judge Richardson instructed against the defense, contending that the sales of cigars and tobacco by hotel stands was no different than by stores.

Judge Richardson expressed, from the bench, the hope that the Supreme Court would soon hand down opinions for the guidance of the lower courts.

A decision in the case of Mike Scher, a confectioner, who kept his place of business open on Sunday for the purpose of testing the law, is also being awaited with interest.

While the gradual restoration of certain lies of business as permissible, Sunday conditions in Richmond are slowly returning to where they stood before the ouster law went into effect and caused the police to clamp down the lid and summon all offenders to court.

$595 "MAXWELL"

THE BIG MOTOR CAR VALUE OF THE 1917 Season

Increased Production--Economical Merchandising and Standardized Manufacturing Permit Remarkably Low Price.

The prices of Maxwell Cars are again reduced—$595 for the Touring Car and $580 for the Roadster are the new prices—effective July 1st, 1916. Only the price is changed—not the car.

We emphasize this point because you might well suppose that a lowered price would necessitate some changes in the Maxwellg car—somethin taken from its complete equipment—or some lowering of Maxwell standards of quality.
